ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—For the first time since 1932, when Bennett Champ Clark handed him a defeat, "Boss" T. J. Pendergast licked his wounds today of a political beating, inflicted by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann of St. Louis and thousands of Republicans who went over into the Democratic primary election.

In Kansas City, the portly "boss" blamed defeat of his supreme court candidate, James V. Billings of Kennett, on "the Republican metropolitan press of Missouri and the Republican voters."

The conglomerate opposition to Pendergast, drawn together by diverse reasons, saw returns from the primary mount to impressive totals for Supreme Court Judge James M. Douglas.

Stark, at odds over patronage matters with the man who helped elect him governor two years ago, took the offensive against Pendergast in a vigorous campaign in which he shouted for a defeat of "bossism."

Dickmann, who had no particular desire to cross swords with the rotund Kansas City leader, nevertheless felt impelled to marshal his strength for Douglas, a St. Louisan.

The Republicans were attracted by the cry of "Defeat Pendergastism" something they had been unable to do with their own candidates in the fall elections. In addition, their own relatively uncontested primary held little of interest to many of them.

Clark, who defeated Pendergast's candidate, Charles M. Howell, in the Democratic senatorial primary six years ago, emerged with renomination by a tremendous margin over three opponents, two of them avowed "100 per cent new dealers."

The senior senator—a foe of President Roosevelt's court plan and oft-rumored presidential timber for 1940—took no part in the bitter intra-party row but the result of that fierce battle put him in an enviable position in Democratic affairs.

Clark had the solid support and personal friendship of all the warring factions—Pendergast, Stark and Dickmann—thus piling up a tremendous vote out of the feud in his own party.

Stark, a comparative newcomer to politics, put a crimp in Pendergast's long domination of out-state Democratic politics through the successful campaign he pitched against the organization candidate in the supreme court race.

Caulfield Be Opponent
Clark will fight it out in the fall with his personal friend, former Governor Henry S. Caulfield, who won the Republican nomination in a breeze over Ray E. White, St. Louis county real estate man taking his first fling at politics.

Pendergast wasn't hurt a bit in his home town—he gave Billings nearly 100,000 plurality over Douglas. The result showed him as capable as ever at turning in a substantial block of Kansas City votes and he's sure to have much to say over the state's delegates to the national convention in 1940. Clark would find that handy should the presidential rumors blossom by then.

The Stark-Pendergast fight, with St. Louis' Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann lined up against Kansas City, pushed the governor into a dominant position. He showed himself capable of turning upwards of 70,000 rural Missourians away from Pendergast to choke off the spread of Kansas City's control across the state for the first time in years.

Observers conjectured today over the chances that the governor, flushed with the success of his first anti-Pendergast offensive, might aspire to the senatorial seat of Harry S. Truman in 1940. Truman took office with the support of the Kansas City organization.

Stark's close personal acquaintance with the President—a friendship hinged to a common interest in naval affairs—and the alignment he has made with St. Louis' Mayor Dickmann would be happy factors should the race boil down to a show-down of new dealers. Dickmann has been regarded close to Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Congratulates On Victory
Making no attempt to conceal his delight over Douglas selection, the governor at the executive mansion said:

"I congratulate the citizens of Missouri on their splendid victory. By their votes they have given unmistakable warning that they will not tolerate political influence in the affairs of their supreme court."

"This is the issue for which I fought and I had no doubt at any time that an overwhelming majority of the good people of Missouri were fighting with me. We must set ourselves now to the larger task that confronts us in November. I am confident all loyal Democrats will abide by the decision of the majority and that our party and its candidates will be decisively victorious in the general election."

Billings was not reached for comment.

In the less publicized supreme court race for the full ten-year term, State Senator Albert M. Clark of Richmond won the nomination from Clyde W. Wagner of St. Louis. In November Clark will oppose Judge William F. Frank, Republican incumbent from Kirksville.

CONGRESSMEN IN PRIMARY PILE UP STRONG LEADS

Not Given Even Much As Scare By Their Opponents

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Missouri's thirteen representatives in congress breezed through the primary elections without even as much as a scare.

Dewey Short of Galena, the state's lone Republican member, and five of the incumbent Democrats were without opposition, and the other seven Democrats had no difficulty in piling up majorities as counting of the vote continued today.

M. A. Romjue of Macon, dean of the Missouri delegation, defeated John C. Mills, Jr., of Kirksville, in the First district.

In what was expected to be a close race, Congressman William L. Nelson of Columbia accumulated a good-sized advantage over State Senator Will G. Lockridge of Fayette in the Second district.

In the Third district Richard M. Duncan, the incumbent, walked away from Thomas A. Grace of Excelsior Springs.

R. T. Wood of Springfield, the Sixth district representative, had little trouble with his fellow townsman, State Representative Ernest C. Hamlin.

Orville Zimmerman of Kennett, congressman from the Tenth district, was easily the winner over Alfred Herbert Marshall of Charleston.

Unofficial returns in St. Louis showed C. Arthur Anderson, who was opposed by the CIO's Non-Partisan Labor league, and Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., were renominated.

Hennings was opposed by Lawrence Edward Smith, a "pick-and-shovel" WPA worker.

Congressmen without opposition in addition to Short, were C. Jasper Bell and Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas City, Clyde Williams of Hillsboro, Clarence Cannon of Elsberry and John J. Cochran of St. Louis.

In the Seventh district which Short represents, former Congressman Frank H. Lee of Joplin won the Democratic nomination from J. H. Ingenthron of Forsyth.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Phil A. Bennett of Springfield apparently won the Republican nomination in the Sixth district.

In St. Louis where the Republicans had their only other congressional contests, William E. Buder had an early lead over Dr. Charles H. Phillips, Jr., Negro, and Russell J. Horsefield rolled up an advantage in first returns over Harry R. Rosecrans and R. E. Ladriere.

ROSS M'CLAIN GIVES SELF UP ON ASSAULT CHARGE

He Returns From Kansas City With Constable Poindexter

IS ACCUSED OF AN ATTACK JULY 13

In Statement Contends He Acted In "Self Defense In Encounter"

Ross McClain, who on Wednesday night, July 13, had an encounter with Franklin Creagan, state liquor inspector in this district, was taken in custody in Kansas City about 4 o'clock this morning by Forrest Poindexter, constable, who had been called to Kansas City by McClain, to give himself up.

McClain, charged with assault with intent to kill, was returned to Sedalia early this morning, arriving about 9 o'clock and was taken to the office of Constable Poindexter on South Ohio avenue, where he remained until afternoon.

On the night of the assault Creagan went to the Green Pastures, operated and owned by McClain, to ascertain whether liquor was being sold at the place and it was while there that the two had the encounter.

Creagan had stated, following the affair, that McClain attacked him with a bottle filled with liquid and struck him with a wooden instrument when McClain became furious at his making a call at the place in performance of his duty.

The Green Pastures was being operated, it was said Creagan had been told, without a state liquor license and Creagan had made a report of the same to his superior in Jefferson City. He was ordered to further investigate. Asking Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned to file charges against McClain, Harned wanted further information and evidence and Creagan, it is claimed by him, went to the Green Pastures to ascertain if liquor was being sold.

Immediately following the fight with Creagan, McClain disappeared. It is alleged he visited several friends and later obtained his automobile and departed for Kansas City. He had not been heard from since by either the members of the sheriff's office, the Sedalia police or the state highway patrol other than that he was in Kansas City.

Constable Poindexter obtained the necessary papers from Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned on Tuesday night and left after midnight for Kansas City. Upon arriving there he went first to a night club thinking McClain would be there, but it was closed and he then went to 711 West Twelfth street, where McClain was found.

Statement By McClain

McClain in a statement said: "I was assaulted, not Mr. Creagan, as has been stated in the newspapers for the past two weeks. He (Creagan) came to my door at the Green Pastures and tried to kick it down, a legitimate place of business where I paid a high license to operate, and also good rent."

"Not only that but Creagan pulled a gun, which I learned had been borrowed from Sheriff W. L. Marlin, and threatened to shoot me. I succeeded in getting the gun away from him. Then he ran behind the bar and grabbed a salt shaker and hit me in the head with it. He also broke a glass when he hit me with that, and then he grabbed a large soda water bottle and endeavored to hit me with it, but I succeeded in getting it away from him and I struck him with it instead."

"As far as hitting him with a baseball bat, ice tamper or any other instrument, that is taboo. The only things he was ever touched with were my bare fists and the same soda water bottle that he tried to hit me with."

"The reason why Creagan was mad at me was, he created a financial obligation with me and I

TENSION OVER BORDER DISPUTE IS MORE ACUTE

Soviets Blame Japanese For Further Conflict Near Siberia

By J. D. WHITE

HUNCHAN, Manchoukuo (near Siberian border), Aug. 3.—(AP)—Tension on the Siberian-Manchoukuo border tightened today as the rumble of cannon in the Changkufeng trouble zone carried far beyond the frontier.

I arrived tonight in this Manchoukuo border city in the shadow of Soviet Russia's armed might to find it darkened completely against possible air raids.

The train on which I traveled also was dark, and through northern Korea there were lookouts posted in all villages who constantly scanned the skies for Soviet planes.

Changkufeng, the center of the conflict between Japanese and Russians, is a short distance southeast of here and Hunchun residents said cannonading was audible today from 7 a. m. until noon.

Desire For Peace

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—Soviet Russia threw on Japan's shoulders today the responsibility for further conflict along the Siberian border.

Even as she warned of possible "serious consequences" if Japanese "provocations" continued there were indications of her wish to reach a peaceful settlement.

A communique issued by Tass (official Russian news agency) declared "since the beginning of the conflict the Soviet government has declared that it intends only to defend territory indisputably belonging to the Soviet union . . ."

A newspaper which reliably reflects official opinion recalled the government had indicated a willingness to redefine the boundary separating Siberia from Japanese Korea and Japanese-protected Manchoukuo.

The communique accused Japanese militarists of circulating air raid reports "in order to justify their repeated attacks on Soviet territory and the tremendous losses which they have to bear."

"The assumption also is expressed that Japanese militarists are encouraged in their provocative actions by certain Japanese diplomats," the communique added. Under these conditions further continuation of hostilities, fraught with extremely serious consequences, is regarded inevitable."

RISSLER LEADS FOR DEMOCRATS

Douglas-Billings Battle Figured Strong In Campaign

Pettis Countians polled a light vote in the primary election on Tuesday, but interest was keen, and so close were the number of votes for contestants in some instances that not until the last precinct ballots were counted was the winners known. This was true of the Democratic party, as there were only one or two contests among the Republicans, where candidates were almost all unopposed.

W. B. Rissler, candidate for the nomination for county clerk, to succeed himself, led the Democratic ticket among those who had opposition, with 5231 votes. A. C. "Am" Leftwich, judge of the county court, eastern division, seeking the nomination for presiding judge, led the unopposed Democrats with 6,649 votes. L. J. Harned, Republican, seeking re-election as prosecuting attorney, led his ticket with 1799.

There were less than 8,000 votes polled in the county, which has a possible vote of between 17,000 and 18,000. There are more than 13,000 registered in the city of Sedalia alone.

One of the closest contests in the county was the race between Douglas and Billings for judge of the supreme court. Six weeks ago it was almost generally conceded that Pettis county would cast a favorable vote for Billings. Sentiment changed in favor of Douglas the past few weeks, with the result that it was "neck and neck" until the last minute, when Douglas led his opponent by three hundred thirty votes.

Women In Contests

Another interesting contest in the campaign was that between two women candidates, Mrs. Louise Orear, seeking re-election as county treasurer, and Mrs. Dimple Thompson, a sister of Karl Wimer, former county treasurer. Mrs. Orear had been appointed by Governor Lloyd C. Stark when the office was re-established after having been merged with that of the collector for some time.

Another woman candidate was Mrs. John H. Perdue, now serving the unexpired term of her late husband as circuit clerk. She sought election to the office and was opposed by Bryan Howe, now a deputy, who won over Mrs. Perdue by a vote of 4,140 to 2,515.

E. W. Couey, now state representative, won the Democratic nomination for that office over W. H. Eicholz and H. D. Dow, Republican, won over his opponent Fred G. Rose (not Fred Ross, as was stated through a typographical error in this morning's paper). Malcolm C. Scott, now judge of the western district, seeking re-election, won on the Democratic ticket over J. O. Kincheloe. J. K. Lacey, Jr., won the Democratic nomination for judge of the eastern district over two opponents, George V. Sneed and Asbury Goodnight. McKinley Thomas, Republican, won over his opponent, G. W. Anson. Frank Armstrong led his opponent, George F. Boothe in the contest for probate judge and E. C. Martin, Democrat received the nomination for county recorder over two opponents, John E. Bohon, present incumbent and John Collins. M. J. Smith, with 3,375 votes, received the Democratic nomination for county collector, winning over T. W. Aulgar who received 3,106 votes.

THE WORLD'S BRAINS NEED FRESH AIR AND EXERCISE

It isn't often that an American can find anything in particular to cheer about in a solemn pronouncement from one of Mussolini's house organs. But the recent editorial concerning collars and ties, printed in Virginio Gayda's "Giornal d'Italia," is something else again.

The collar and tie, said this Italian newspaper, must go. They are non-Italian; more than that, they are "French evils," imported from a less virile land. By constricting the neck, they check "cerebral circulation," cause poor eyesight and keep the brain from getting proper nourishment. Abolish them altogether, and clear thinking and cool heads will be much more prevalent.

Strictly interpreted, this theory ought to mean that sailors, cowboys and practically all females are among the smartest and most coolheaded members of the human race—which, for all we know, may be quite true. But whether it is the collar and tie which are at fault or just plain human perversity, it is at least gratifying to see an authoritative Italian voice raised in favor of more and better brain work.

The principal trouble in this world lately has been the fact that people have taken to thinking with their hearts rather than with their heads. Getting into a profound and complicated jam, the world seems to be turning its back on intelligence and relying on naked emotion.

That explains, no doubt, the enormous popularity of slogans and catch phrases in every land. People don't want to reason their way out of their troubles; they simply want something clear and unmistakable to be mad at.

So Russia rolls up the thunderheads of its wrath against "wreckers," Trotskyists, and unseen and nameless traitors. Germany vents its fury on the hapless Jew. Italy takes it out on the perfidious Spaniard. And in our own fair land—

Well, we are of diverse minds here, so we don't have any national scapegoat.

One group whips up its rage against "economic royalists," and another opens fire on "radicals" of high and low degree; one group hates the CIO and another group hates the National Association of Manufacturers. And altogether this criss-cross of misdirected peevishness does to us precisely what it does to Europe—it keeps us from getting together calmly, admitting that we are all in the same boat, and hunting co-operatively for a workable solution.

Sooner or later we are all going to have to come to that. Our emotions are untrustworthy props in time of crisis; the longer we rely on them, the harder will be the job of laying them aside and calling on our brains for help. A world that can do no better in times like these than hunt for objects for its wrath is in a sorry state.

Mrs. Josephine Goodwin and Mrs. Marie Madan, of Sedalia, assisted in the dedication of a Christian Scientist church in St. Louis Sunday.

City council gave legal title and name of "Liberty Park" to the new park grounds in an ordinance passed at Monday night's meeting. Provision was also made for the appointment of a board of nine park commissioners. At an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening, the following appointees were named by Mayor Overstreet: Bell Hutchinson, W. J. Letts, William Courtney, Carl Botz, W. E. Bard, Jr., Dr. E. F. Yancey, W. J. Riley, Major William Beck and G. N. Boutell.

John Montgomery, of Sedalia, has been appointed as referee under the new bankruptcy law for the Jefferson City district, by Judge Phillips, of the United States district court.

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson is leaving shortly for Alaska, but the full significance of his trip is not generally known.

Flying in an amphibian plane from Seattle with an assortment of maps and charts, he is making a preliminary survey of a highway through Canada to the Klondike.

The amazing feature of this project is that the United States would build and control a highway within the territory of Canada. The road would cost $12,000,000 and be built, paid for, and maintained by the United States.

Construction would be difficult as an engineering feat, but more difficult as a diplomatic feat. Negotiations are now under way with Canada to obtain the right of way and the necessary guarantee of control.

The War Department is not interested in providing scenic beauty for tourists. Its motive is to strengthen the fortification of Alaska, thereby protect the continental United States from attack in the north Pacific. The generals want a highway over which they could send troops and military equipment in an emergency.

This is where the diplomatic difficulty comes in. Canada must guarantee that the road may be used in time of war, though a third country might regard such a concession by Canada as an unneutral act.

The idea is being sold to Canada with two strong arguments: she would get a $12,000,000 highway without cost, and she would get many times this amount in tourist business when this route is opened for automobile traffic.

If he can get the President's approval, Johnson will put a battalion of engineers to work immediately on a mile-by-mile survey of the route. The Twenty-ninth Battalion of Engineers is stationed in the Northwest, ready to do a quick job.

Business Cheer
A confidential report on July business conditions has just been radioed to the President aboard the USS Houston by his inner council economists.

The report was not entirely complete, since business indexes for the entire month had not been compiled. Nevertheless it was sufficiently complete to give the President real ground for economic cheer.

Later in the month the inner council economists will be able to prepare another report which they are confident will be even more cheering.

This is what they were able to radio the President so far:

7. Inventories—There has been a continuing rapid liquidation of the huge stocks that clogged the channels of production last winter. In the automobile industry, General Motors has reduced its inventories from the huge record of $279,000,000 on December 31, 1937, to $176,000,000 on July 1, 1938—a drop of $103,000,000. In the same period General Motors "cash-in-hand" reserves increased from $151,000,000 to $243,000,000. Similarly, Chrysler cut its inventories by 44 per cent, from $54,000,000 to $24,000,000.

2. Consumer Expenditures—Increased six per cent over June which had a four per cent better record than May.

3. Industrial Production—Although July normally is off-season, with slackening manufacturing activities, its industrial production went up to 80, a 3-point gain over June which chalked up a 1-point gain over May, which saw the low of the recession. This year's July index of 80 compares with 114 for the same month last year, while May's index of 76 as against 118 for May, 1937.

4. Employment—Up by between 750,000 and 1,000,000, with the gain largely in agricultural labor. There was a small net rise in industrial employment for the month but the big advance in this field is not due until late fall when the effect of the government's large-scale spending program will begin to make itself felt.

The total U. S. employment in June was 31,600,000. July, according to preliminary estimates, will be around 32,250,000.

Commission Shy
There is one phase of Madame Secretary Perkins' recent trip to Europe which she will not discuss publicly.

This is the activities of the President's Commission sent to study British and Swedish labor laws. Confidential word is that certain industrial members of the Commission have been seeing the "wrong people" and unionites are preparing to kick up a rumpus about the whole affair.

Miss Perkins conferred with the Commission in London, but she is gunshy over what she learned.

"What do you think will be the result of the Commission's study?" a newsman asked.

"A report," was Madame Secretary's bland reply.

"Well, won't that be a surprise! Of course you wouldn't by any chance know what will be in this report."

"Do you know by an chance," inquired another newsman, "that British labor leaders told members of the Commission that there had been any labor spies in England until American-owned firms introduced them there?"

"Yes," admitted Miss Perkins. "I heard that they had received such information."

"And did you hear that they also gave the names of these firms?"

"No, I didn't," snapped Miss Perkins, "and even if I had, I wouldn't tell you."

German Censorship

One of the odd facts about the dictatorships of Europe is that Germany and Italy are now getting news coverage about France from the United States.

German and Italian newspapers gave only a meagre coverage to the recent visit to Paris of King George and Queen Elizabeth. Reason was that they wanted to minimize the British-French entente and rivalry with Hitler's visit to Rome.

But the National Broadcasting Company, which devotes four and a half hours daily to foreign language broadcasts, sent this story by short wave in both German and Italian.

They gave news elements and editorial comments from leading U. S. dailies.

In Germany there is nothing to prevent the owner of a short-wave radio from hearing a foreign news broadcast. He can listen in his own home, with none present beyond his own family, but is disallowed by law from inviting friends to listen.

Following this broadcast, N. B. C. received many letters from the other side, expressing thanks for the news. In preparing their programs, N. B. C. collaborates with the State Department.

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a young woman say "Good night" to her employer when she leaves the office?
2. Is it good taste for a girl to have lunch with a single man who works in the same office?
3. If a girl dates a man who works in the same office, should she treat him in a business-like way during office hours?
4. Should one say "Good morning" to the people he passes on his way to his desk?
5. Is it better to say, "Yes, Mr. Smith," than "Yes, sir" when answering your employer?

What would you do if—

There is someone in your office whom you dislike intensely?

- (a) Avoid him, even when he is the logical person to go to for a certain thing?
- (b) Treat him courteously whenever you have business with him?
- (c) Tell your employer that you will not have anything to do with the person?

Answers

1. If she passes by his desk.
2. Yes.
3. Yes.
4. Yes.
5. "Yes, Mr. Smith" is better. Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(b).

• SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R BY CLARKE NEWLON

CAST OF CHARACTERS

NIKKI JEROME, heroine, blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, dark-haired STEVE MALLORY, hero, who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. NIKKI's father, PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York Jew merchant.

Yesterday, Steve and Nikki are nearly caught in a dangerous landslide. Then a rock hits Nikki. She kneels in pain.

CHAPTER X

STEVE lifted Nikki to her feet.

"You go on," she gasped. "I'm a little—little bit slow."

Her words were spaced and labored. "Go on. I'll make it."

The rain had slackened a little. High up on the cliff a wavering jagged out appeared and widened slowly as tons of earth slipped foot by foot from their moorings of centuries.

Steve stooped and in one swift movement tossed Nikki on his shoulder and stumbled forward in heavy, heart-breaking strides. The mud dragged at his feet and a shower of rocks fell in vicious, bruising hail. The rumble behind him became a thundering roar. He threw himself and Nikki around the bend as a huge section of the mountain slid slowly, irresistibly forward, obliterating a quarter of a mile of the trail as completely as though it had never existed.

They lay flat for several minutes, spent, too out of breath to speak. Finally Steve said:

"I'm going back to New York and find something easy—like crossing Times Square at 6 o'clock." He grinned. "Somehow these trails don't seem safe to me."

Nikki got to her feet and felt carefully of her side where the rock had struck, wondering if a rib was broken. She was aware of her own emotion subsiding and was grateful for Steve's lightness.

"Are you all intact, honey?" he asked.

"Feels like a mule had kicked me," she said. "But it seems to be only bruised. I'll live."

They stood staring back for a moment at the shattered mountain where the trail had been. The slide had accentuated the steepness. Five minutes before they had been walking along a narrow, but solid enough path. Where that path had been there now was precipitous, gashed earth, hopelessly impassable.

"Woody made it back all right, didn't he?" asked Nikki, a little of her own fearful reaction creeping into her voice.

"I'm sure he did," said Steve truthfully. "He didn't have as far to go as we did and he wasn't wasting any time when I saw him last. We can't signal. Our guns are somewhere down there." He motioned toward that slide that was settling far below in a haze of dust, despite the rain. Nikki shuddered.

"I suppose Woody lost his gun too," he continued. "I guess we'd better follow this trail on and try to circle back to camp. We certainly can't go back the way we came."

The rain had stopped as suddenly as it began. They were soaked. Mud was caked on their clothes. They mopped off soiled hands and faces with wet grass.

"The sun will dry us out in a few minutes," said Steve, and it did. They walked along the trail and followed its course around the curve of the mountain, but when it continued on, obviously away from camp, Steve suggested they try a cutback along a tiny canyon.

So they changed courses and walked until they believed they should be somewhere near the camp. Without guns they could only call. Their shouts echoed back and forth between the hills, but they got no answer. Suddenly both realized it was far past noon and they hadn't eaten. So they sat down and took battered sandwiches from capacious pockets.

"Nothing ever tasted any better," said Nikki, as she took a bite of bread and cold beef. "But I expect we'd better save at least half of it. It's just possible, isn't it, Stevie, my dear, that we're lost?"

"Just possible," admitted Steve, his mouth full.

THE possibility became increasingly a probability as the next two hours passed and they found no sign of the camp nor received answers to their shouts. Just before sundown Nikki stopped.

"It gets dark quickly up here, Steve, and it looks like we're going to spend the night out."

"I've been thinking of that," he admitted, and this seems to be as good a spot as any.

Steve wasn't much of a woodsman but he was enough to lash a branch between two trees with vines, hack down limbs with his hunting knife and make a lean-to that was closed on three sides and open in front. That would protect them from the weather.

He spent an hour gathering wood and piling it within their reach, while Nikki piled twigs and leaves on the ground within the lean-to. That done they built a fire after a few false starts and sat within their little house, watching the flame just as the sun plunged their little valley into dusk and darkness.

"Very cozy," said Nikki. "And warm," said Steve. "You know," said Nikki, moving

Homemakers Form Plans For Camp

The Smithton Homemakers held their July meeting in the school building Wednesday with 15 members and seven visitors present. Mesdames James McFarish and F. Kehl, of the South Abel Club and Mrs. Chapman, of the Ringen Club, were among the guests.

After the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. L. Hill, the minutes were read and approved. Plans for attending the camp at Knob Noster for the week of August 22 were discussed. Two members reported that they expect to attend the camp.

The president announced the Community Fair to be held the 7 and 8 of October.

The finance committee for the premiums for the fair with Mrs. Dollie Griffin, chairman, announced that work was progressing nicely upon collections of funds for the various premiums.

Plans were completed for the annual picnic to be held Tuesday evening August 30. The club members to invite their entire family. A committee appointed to take care of this picnic is: Mrs. W. J. Holtzen, chairman, Mrs. Garfield Armstrong, Miss Doris Melendy.

After a luncheon at the noon hour the afternoon was devoted to a talk by Dr. J. W. Boger on "Venereal Diseases."

The next regular meeting will not be held until September as the August meeting will be in the form of a picnic.

The September meeting will be in charge of Group VIII with Mrs. Garfield Armstrong hostess.

Meeting Is Held By Arator Homemakers

The Arator Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. N. Monsees with Mrs. Ernest May assisting hostess.

Roll call answered by members giving their favorite color. A house dress show followed, and Mrs. Claire L. Montgomery, county home demonstration agent spoke on house dresses and everyday shoes.

Three new members joined the club, Mrs. J. K. Lacey, Jr., Mrs. I. H. Youngkamp and Mrs. Noeland Smith.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. W. Wilson, August 11.

Mississippi and Missouri both had the same abbreviations at one time. "Mi." was used for both states, but Missouri changed to "Mo." and later Mississippi changed to "Miss."

SEVERAL STATE LEGISLATORS LOSE IN THE PRIMARY

Senate And House Members Generally Win Renomination

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A number of state legislators fell by the wayside in yesterday's primary elections, but tabulations today showed senate and house members seeking renomination were generally successful.

Among those who apparently lost were State Senator Arthur N. Lindsay of Clinton, T. A. Schockley of Pulaski county, self-styled leader of the "hill-billy" bloc in the house last session, and State Representative L. B. Cockrum of Lewis county, all Democrats.

State Senator Gene Frost, Cassville, was running neck-and-neck for the Democratic nomination in the 18th district with T. E. (Tex) Roberts, former president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Missouri.

John D. Taylor of Chariton chairman of the powerful appropriations committee in the house the last two sessions, won re-nomination on the Democratic ticket by a narrow margin.

Several members of the house of representatives won senatorial nominations.

In addition to Bert Bradley of Butler, who held a wide advantage over Senator Lindsay, these included:

Francis Smith of St. Joseph, Dick Dale of Richmond and C. S. Duncan of Fayette.

Another representative with senatorial aspirations, C. C. Downing of Knox county, lost to Senator William Quinn of Maywood.

Senators apparently renominated were Allen McReynolds of Carthage, E. A. Barbour of Springfield, I. N. Searcy of Eminence, Quinn, and Delmar Dail of Marceline. The latter had no opposition.

George A. Rozier, Perryville, and Ray Mabey, Unionville, the two Republican members of the senate whose terms expire, were renominated without opposition.

In the Tenth district, W. B. Whitow, Fulton attorney, defeated Homer Pruett, Centralia, for the Democratic nomination.

Emery W. Allison, Rolla, took a late lead over former State Representative E. W. (Gene) Bennett, Salem, for the Democratic nomination in the 24th district.

Former State Senator Lon Kelley of Pineville, seeking the Republican nomination in the 18th district in one of that party's few contests, lost an early lead to H. R. Williams, and apparently was defeated.

A number of the house leaders, including Speaker J. G. Christy of Jefferson county and Majority Leader Roy Hamlin of Hannibal, were renominated without primary opponents.

DIVORCE ACTIONS ARE FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT

The following divorces petitions have been filed in the circuit court:

Thelma L. Garrett from Clarence D. Garrett, to whom she was married May 9, 1925. General indignities are alleged. W. W. Blain is attorney for the plaintiff.

Peter Wirol from Edith Wirol, married July 16, 1936. General indignities are alleged. Frank T. Armstrong is attorney for the plaintiff.

APPEARS JACOBS BEEN "SOLD A PUP"

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—It appears the astute Mike Jacobs finally has been sold a pup in his big triple decker championship fight between Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers next Wednesday night.

Two days of investigation shows the great fight public simply is not much interested, even with three titles on display and one, the lightweight, actually involved. Perhaps it's the heat. The fight looked like a stem-winder when it was arranged. If for no other reason, it offered Armstrong the unheard-of opportunity of adding the lightweight crown to the featherweight and welterweight tiaras he already held.

Too many prospective customers are convinced Armstrong will knock Ambers' ears off.

There are a surprising number of boxing's inner circle—managers, trainers and the like—who think it will be a great fight. Unfortunately for the gate, these gents do not buy tickets.

The Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BREITZ

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—If Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett don't open the Garden's indoor season October 3, they'll settle their middleweight dispute in the same arena (as Announcer Harry Balogh would announce) on Nov. 18. . . . That guy licking his chops down there at Morgantown, W. Va., is "Little Sleepy" Glenn, head football coach at West Virginia. . . . He has 'em only three deep in every position and is set for all comers, including Pitt. . . Believe it or not. . .

Don't let anybody try to tell you this Clay Bryant didn't hoil himself a ball game at the Polo Grounds yesterday. . . . His fast 'en was knocking the buttons right off the Giants' shirts. . . . And now comes Doug Smith from way up yonder in Trail, British Columbia, to suggest Tony Galento may have saught his cold from being "frost bitten" . . . to which we say ouch with a big O. . .

There's a tall one going the rounds out at Hobbs, N. M., that Ernie Lombardi's nose is so long he can light a cigarette, stand under a shower and not get the coffin tack wet. . . . Izzat so, Schnoz? . . .

Correction: Johnny Vander Meer and Dusty Cooke didn't have to sleep on the old veranda in Cincinnati because of the heat—it was in St. Louis. . . . Now that the damage has been undone the Rhinelanders can order up another stein. . . . Burgess Whitehead says his side still hurts a little. . . . Keep your eyes on a Bronx midweight named Al Bernard, who has Texas on fire with 29 wins in 30 starts. . . . Gosh, but it's hot up here.

More than one big league scout is turning goo-goo eyes on Jake Baker, southpaw of the Macon Peaches in the Sally league. . . . He recently won five shutouts in a row with 49 consecutive scoreless innings. . . . They tell you here the Baltimore Orioles got 25,000 potatoes, plus the loan of Blondy Ryan, for Chalmers Cissell. . . . Owner George Preston Marshall has hired an 80-piece marching band to ballyhoo his Washington Redskins this fall.

BULL-IEVE ME, FOLKS

When Bob Burns starts pollickin' as the Senator from Tulsa he can throw more bull in 3 minutes than a champion toreador can throw in a whole afternoon! See him strut his stuff with Martha Raye. Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland in "Tropic Holiday" coming Tuesday to the Liberty Theatre.

LIBERTY TO SHOW

"MY BILL" DRAMA OF FAMILY LIFE
"My Bill," with Kay Francis, Bonita Granville, Anita Louise, Bobby Jordan and Dickie Moore heading the cast, has been booked for Sunday and Monday at the Liberty Theatre. "My Bill," was adapted from Tom Barry's stage play, "Courage."

Sacrificing that intangible asset generally termed glamour, which has heretofore been the bulwark of her career, Kay Francis has taken the opportunity presented by this picture to prove that she is, first and foremost, an accomplished actress.

She has dared what few motion picture actresses in her position would consent to do—that is, to play a woman who is older than her real self and is the mother of four children, of whom the eldest is supposed to be sixteen years of age.

In the story Miss Francis is a widow, who has just finished running through the inheritance left by her socially prominent husband. In desperate straits, she borrows money from a banker who was her childhood sweetheart. This causes scandal, and her eldest three children leave her and go to live with a wealthy aunt.

Only little Bill (Dickie Moore) remains with his mother, but, small as he is, he proves to be a real bulwark in time of need. Then, it is the little fellow who reunites the family as a Mother's May gift to Kay, and, as the story ends, not only is the family reunited but the town gossip's tongues are to be silenced by Kay's marriage to her childhood sweetheart.

1. LOOK... IT'S CRYSTAL CLEAR

2. SMELL THAT RICH, CLEAN AROMA

3. TASTE THAT FULLY AGED ALL-GRAIN FLAVOR

Let your friends tell you which BEER THEY LIKE BEST

Make the BREWMASTER'S TEST and discover why so many choose Falstaff's all-grain flavor

• Here's an easy way to find out how your friends vote on the beer question! Have them make the Brewmaster's Test. Bring out some frosty bottles of Falstaff and put the question up to the Jury of Three—the eyes, nose and mouth. See if everybody doesn't say with plenty of conviction, "Make Mine Falstaff!"

Falstaff is crystal clear
Look at Falstaff! You're looking at beer that's as clear as noonday sun. Pick up a newspaper and read it through that sparkling clarity. That's because Falstaff is double-filtered and aged the slow, expensive way that ordinary beers can't afford.

Smell Falstaff! Get a whiff of that rich, clean aroma of sun-ripened grain. It takes the finest materials (Falstaff spends more for them per bottle than 9 out of 10 breweries) to produce the rare all-grain aroma which is the hallmark of the finest beers.

It's lighter—more cooling
Taste Falstaff! Lift your glass and enjoy that full-bodied flavor and thirst-chasing goodness. Here's beer that's lighter . . . a brew that cheers you up and cools you off like a morning breeze!

Order a case of Falstaff today. Join the swing to this better beer that sold 194,000,000 bottles of Falstaff last year. Falstaff Brewing Corporation, St. Louis—Omaha—New Orleans.

and more than $4,000 because of my ignorance."

He will probably be arraigned before Judge Bente this afternoon. Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned said he would request a $5,000 bond be made for his release. The preliminary hearing date has not been decided upon.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3.—T. J. (Boss) Pendergast said today the Republicans beat his Democratic organization yesterday by voting as Democrats in the Douglas-Billings supreme court race and bluntly warned Missouri democracy needs his following much more than the Kansas City organization "will ever need the out-state democracy."

The intra-party feud of Pendergast and Gov. Lloyd C. Stark added significance to Pendergast's warning but he made it plain in the same statement his organization would vote for the Democratic ticket in November "as it is officially printed."

PINEVILLE, Mo., Aug. 3.—(P)—Two men arrested in connection with a series of holdups, sluggings and kidnappings in central and southwestern Missouri escaped from the McDonald county jail here late Tuesday.

One of the men, an Indian, who gave the name of Arthur Wilson, was recaptured a few minutes after the break. State highway patrolmen said the man also was known as Woodrow Elkins, who had escaped July 25 from the Oklahoma state prison where he was serving 25 years for armed robbery.

The second man, who gave the name of Wilson also, was sought by Sheriff Harry Bone and deputies in the creek bottom area where the first man was caught.

ville, Mo., today to question Woodrow Elkins, escaped Oklahoma convict, seeking some clue to the death of Earl Leslie Nichols, 22-year-old convict who fled McAlester penitentiary with Elkins.

The nude, tattooed body of Nichols was found in a weed-patch near here yesterday. He had been shot through the head.

Clint Miers, superintendent of the state crime bureau, said Nichols had been taken for a "ride."

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3.—(A)—Japanese and Chinese warplanes fought a major air battle near Hankow today in which large numbers of planes were reported brought down.

A Japanese naval spokesman said an undisclosed number of Japanese bombers and pursuit ships encountered 54 Chinese planes during a raid on Hanhow and shot down 32. He said seven other planes were destroyed on the Hankow airfield.

The Eldsters, Sedalia's Hill-billy band, entertained the members of the Lions club at the St. Francis Hotel at a luncheon meeting at noon today. This band, composed of Richard Phillips, Albert Leet, Paul Durham and "Rosie" Ellis, is under contract to Ed Mater, manager of the Fox Liberty theatre, and it was through the courtesy of Mr. Mater that they appeared before the Lions club.

Jack Jolly, club president, presided.

Miss Marian Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Norton, went to St. Louis Tuesday night to visit her cousin, James Hunnicutt and family.

Miss Mildred Hill, of the Long View Farms near Lees Summit, is spending a few days visiting with her cousin, Mrs. W. G. Born and family, 1315 South Kentucky avenue, and other relatives and friends.

RAISING A FAMILY

BABY'S HAND TO MOUTH—LEADS TO THUMB SUCKING

Poor physical habits worry mothers more than unfortunate behavior, as a rule. From thumb sucking to nail-biting and hair-twisting there are a dozen variations of the "hand" habit.

Hand-to-mouth is a natural gesture. The tiny baby manages one day to get his hand close to his mouth. And in pops a lovely pink finger or thumb. What joy! And, oh, how he smacks his lips and goes after it although he would, of course, bite on anything handy. Mother nature equipped him with one talent when he arrived to stay; she has given him extra strong muscles in his cheeks and mouth that never seem to tire.

He greatly prefers food, of course, but he is ever ready to go through the motions of eating when there is no food near. It seems to comfort him between meals, by association of ideas. It is a pleasurable act to work the cheeks and jaw even when food is absent.

The baby loves his hands. He is probably most proud of his little hands. He tries to use them long before he knows what they are for. No one can teach him the use of his digits. He must learn alone. He begins with his mouth.

The child learns in time to handle a spoon. Hand to mouth again, it is, and again this is associated with the pleasure of eating. It seems, then, that everything nice contributes to his habit, while nothing pleasant can be done to break it up. This is why it is so hard to do much about thumb or finger-sucking. Of course, it does help in some cases to use mittens or patent guards, and bitter, harmless, flavors applied to offending members have also been moderately successful.

Take His Mind Off Himself
To provide enough playthings for the young child to divert attention is a help in its way; also to keep him very busy and interested. These are panaceas in general for any poor habit.

The Depression Hits Cambodia's Ballet

THEY'RE seeking a balanced budget, too, in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, Far East protectorate of French Indo-China. And to whittle down expenses 63-year-old King Sisowath Monivong plans to "fire" half of his dancing-girl harem. He's going to reduce the retinue to a mere 100.

But the king's dancers won't go on relief. That's because Cambodia actually suffers a labor shortage, and secondly, and more important, because the king's ex-wives are members of a popular and highly-honored profession, the Cambodian ballet.

Cambodia is the home of the classical ballet. Archaeologists have pretty well established that the royal ballet, as depicted on crumbling walls of the Khmers, is a very ancient dance and was executed in the dim centuries with rare talent and emotion.

Today, training for the ballet is serious business in Cambodia. Fortunate little girls chosen for the royal troupe begin training at eight. But actually their mothers have been training them for many years earlier. Not that there is any money in the art. About 10 years ago some of them actually went on strike for better working conditions. But the ballet does lend prestige. The humblest dancer seeks this. A Cambodian native girl is shown here on an early stamp of Indo-China.

Neglect Of Smallpox Prevention May Lead To Future Epidemics

Investigations made among students coming into one of the larger universities in the United States indicated that only about one-fourth had had a fairly recent vaccination against smallpox.

Impress on physicians generally the impression is prevalent that people are not availing themselves of this protective device of modern medicine as they should avail themselves, if smallpox is to be kept in the realm of controllable diseases.

Since men have lost their fear of smallpox they have become inclined to neglect protective measures, with the likelihood that smallpox may yet reappear as a virulent disease, affecting large numbers of people, and reaping a toll of thousands of deaths before modern preventive medicine can again bring it under control.

The history of smallpox goes back deeply into antiquity. There seems to be evidence that it occurred as far back as the 12th century B. C.

Certainly it was present among the ancient Greeks and Romans, and there were epidemics in France and Italy in the 6th century. The available records indicate that smallpox reached America in 1520, when a Negro slave with the disease came into Mexico with the troops of Cortez. The epidemic thus created destroyed the lives of more than three and a half million people.

The records in Massachusetts indicate that the disease first appeared in that state in 1633, and was prevalent in Boston in 1649.

Now today, as the result of the widespread use of vaccination against smallpox, few people ever see a case, and the human being who goes about with the scars of smallpox on his face is considered to be a monument to his own neglect of proper measures for health.

Every child should be vaccinated as a baby, and again when it enters school in the sixth year. Whenever the disease appears as an outbreak in any community, everyone should be vaccinated at once if he has not had a successful vaccination within three or four years. Everyone exposed in any manner to smallpox should certainly be vaccinated.

Any failure of mankind in the mass to avail themselves of this well-established measure will lead unquestionably to an increasing incidence of this disease throughout the United States as indeed there has already been an increasing incidence in a few places.

Today's Fairy Tale: Once there was a diplomatic representative who issued a mildly-worded and unofficial denial.

REACTION AFTER GAIN BY WHEAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Possibilities Russo-Japanese hostilities would spread did much today to lift Chicago wheat prices about 1 1/2 cents but late reactions largely cancelled gains.

Talk was heard that should Russia become involved in a prolonged war, it would remove that country as a source of supply for deficit nations. On the other hand price setbacks later were promoted by an estimate that Europe's crop this season would be the largest since 1933, thirty million bushels larger than a year average.

"COULD ONLY GO DOWN STAIRS ONE STEP AT A TIME"

Rheumatic Pains in Knee and Hip Would Almost Cripple Mr. M. M. Curry; Hindered Greatly in His Work; It Was With Great Effort That He Did Anything at All; Read of Kru-Gon's Action in His Case.

"Krugon actually surprised me with its quick and thorough action in my stubborn case," said Mr. M. M. Curry, Route No. 1, Hughesville, Mo., (near Sedalia), a well known local gentleman who has been a lifelong resident of this county recently in talking with the KruGon Man who is daily meeting the local public at the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, this city.

MR. M. M. CURRY

"For so long my system would not properly eliminate the poisons from my body and about a year ago a stubborn case of rheumatism developed," continued Mr. Curry, "Those pains settled in my hip on my left side and what I endured cannot be described in words possibly. Then this spring those aches and pains spread to my right knee which crippled me until I could hardly walk at times. My knee swelled and pained so that I was in constant misery and it seemed so strange to me for I had never had anything like this before in my life. I tried some medicines but they did me no good. I was becoming alarmed over my condition for I was hindered greatly in my work. I could only go down stairs one step at a time and really everything I did was with the greatest of effort. Then I saw the ad about KruGon in the paper and as I heard so much praise for it I decided to go and talk with the KruGon Man. So I hobbled downtown to have this capsule remedy explained to me and I bought my first box."

"I am giving this statement while I am in to get my second box of KruGon and there is no comparison in how I feel," continued Mr. Curry, "It was just ten days after I began taking KruGon that I plowed corn a day and a half, then unhitched my riding plow and hitched up my walking plow for another day and a half... and I felt no ill effects other than natural tiredness after hard days of work. All aches and pains have gone, they no longer bother me in the least. I can walk up and down steps like anyone else and that is really a relief after being in the condition I was. This KruGon gave me proper elimination, those poisons were driven from my system in a natural manner and again I am feeling like my former self. No wonder so many people are praising KruGon... it deserves it."

The KruGon Man is daily meeting the local public at the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, this city, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this medicinal discovery.

OBITUARY

Samuel R. Landis

Samuel R. Landis, 95 a pioneer resident of Pettis county passed away at his home 710 South Osage Tuesday afternoon, at 5:00 o'clock. Death was due to heart attack.

Mr. Landis was born at Churchtown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, March 28, 1943. He was married to Miss Jennie White head at Burlington, Iowa, December 26, 1868, and returned to Pennsylvania where they resided until 1877 when they moved to a farm five miles east of Sedalia on the Boonville street road. He moved to Sedalia with his family 27 years ago and has since lived here.

He is survived by one son, Luther Landis, of Sedalia. He was preceded in death by his wife 23 years ago.

He was a member of the First Methodist church. Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning, with the Rev. A. W. Kokendoff officiating. Music will be in charge of Mrs. A. H. Bratton. The following friends will be pallbearers: John A. Fowler, B. U. Fowler, F. H. Baker, James K. Lacey, Sr., A. A. Wherley, and R. M. Smith. Interment will be made in Crown Hill cemetery. The body will remain at the Ewing Funeral Home.

John Lemley

Word has been received in Sedalia of the death of John Lemley, 41 years old, son of Mrs. W. W. Howe, 1916 South Stewart avenue, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident which occurred at Bristow, Okla., sometime Tuesday night.

It was said Mr. Lemley died in a hospital about 8:30 o'clock this morning in Bristow.

He was born in Johnson county, September 10, 1897 and has been residing in Oklahoma since he was about sixteen years old.

Surviving, besides his mother are two brothers, Frank Lemley of Oklahoma City, Hugh Lemley of Yakima, Washington and a half brother, William Romig of Sedalia.

The body is being brought to the Gillespie Funeral Home and will arrive Thursday. Funeral arrangements will not be made until after the arrival of the body and of relatives.

Funeral of Mrs. Beems

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah E. Beems, 68 years old, who died Tuesday morning will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, with the Reverend R. E. Hurd, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. F. O. Withers will be in charge of the music. Pall bearers will be friends of the family as follows: W. G. Martin, C. Grother, Tom Haeslip, O.

W. Griskat, Jeff Keenan and H. Shelby. Interment will be in the Crown Hill cemetery.

B. AND P. W. C. MEET AT FAIR GROUNDS
